

Transferring My Recurring Donations After My Merchant Account is Active

Last Modified on 10/08/2019 8:18 am PDT

MobileCause does not retain full donor credit card information for security purposes. So if a recurring donation was set up on the temporary payment gateway, it cannot be moved to the merchant account, and will remain active on the temporary payment gateway.

These donations will still be active in your account, but rather than being deposited directly to your bank account, they will continue to process through the default gateway, and will be sent to you via remittance check.

For more answers about merchant services, review the Frequently Asked Questions .